Peace Kicks Off Catholic Schools Week with Liturgy

Queen of Peace kicked off Catholic Schools Week on Monday, Jan. 25 with an all-school liturgy. Junior Lindsey Frederick (Oak Lawn) delivered the Call to Worship, which focused on the theme of Catholic Schools Week 2010 – “Catholic Schools - Dividends for Life” – and its concepts of faith, knowledge, morals and discipline.

Rev. Thomas A. Bernas, pastor of St. Richard in Chicago, was the celebrant of the mass and president/principal Kathleen Hanlon, Ph.D. delivered a brief reflection.

“We are here today to celebrate and give thanks for the opportunity we have been given to search, to question, to explore and to grow in community,” Dr. Hanlon said. “We have been given supportive families, wonderful friends, powerful teachers and mentors. We have been given opportunities to develop our intellect, our unique talents and our leadership skills and to develop global consciousness – opportunities denied to so many young women throughout the world today.”
