Grammar School Students Attend Leadership Conference

Queen of Peace hosted its annual Grammar School Leadership Conference on Feb. 20. Forty-two sixth and seventh grade girls from 13 area grammar schools participated in the half-day event.

Attendees of the event were chosen as emerging or current leaders by their grammar school teachers and administrators. The conference, facilitated by Peace leadership students of the Peace Ambassador program, discussed the following topics: Leadership and Technology, Goal Setting, Communication Skills, Influence and Trust, Self-Confidence and Team Building.

The grammar school students participated in hands-on activities that highlighted each of the above topics, while meeting new friends from other schools. The objective of the conference is to develop and nurture students' leadership styles and ultimately help the girls feel more confident in their abilities.

Participating schools included: St. Richard, St. Turibius, Santa Lucia, St. Philip Neri, St. Gerald, St. Christina, Queen of Martyrs, St. Margaret of Scotland, St. Mary Star of the Sea, St. Bernadette, St. Mary of Riverside, St. Germaine and St. Michael-South Shore.
